

TripSpark's Parent Company, Constellation Software, Named Top Acquirer Constellation Software 2019: A Record Number of Acquisitions

On January 16, 2020, Constellation Software Inc. was named the top volume acquirer of software companies for 2019 (TripSpark Technologies' parent company, Volaris Group is a subsidiary of Constellation). An independent analysis conducted by Corum Group found that Constellation Software completed a record number of acquisitions through its subsidiaries.

ABOUT CONSTELLATION SOFTWARE AND VOLARIS GROUP

Constellation Software Inc. (TSX:CSU) was founded in 1995 to build a portfolio of software companies and grow them to be leaders in their particular niche. With the backing of Constellation Software and Volaris Group, TripSpark acquires, strengthens, and grows software companies across many different vertical markets and geographies. Since we are strictly buy-and-hold forever acquirers, we offer stability and assurance that the companies we acquire will never be re-sold. Most of our acquisitions operate as independent businesses after acquisition, and founders and managers are given the autonomy and resources to continue growing their businesses.

Learn more about our philosophy and TripSpark Technologies' acquisition strategy from our General Manager, Andrea Potter.